Dear [State/local official]:

With the recent passage of the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), [State/City] can leverage federal funding to positively impact our communities now and well into the future. Librarians of all types [or resources within the community, often absorbing budget cuts, furloughs, layoffs our facilities. Librarians have been challenged to adapt quickly and creatively in members of our community providing access to information and the internet, needs with distance learning needs, assisting the unemployed and jobseekers, aid in helping patrons complete Census forms. The work of libraries extends far beyond physical space. [Add details or a story about how your library assisted their during the pandemic.]

ded use of ARPA funds specifically and succinctly and explain why it will benefit

The need for library services in our communities increases in times of crisis. At this critical time, when residents are turning to their local libraries for urgently needed resources and services that they cannot access elsewhere, state and local support is needed now more than ever. ARPA funding will ensure libraries are positioned to meet our local COVID-19 recovery needs in the coming months and years. This funding is critical to the success of libraries and our community.

As you make plans for the ways in which ARPA funding will be dedicated in [State/City], consider how a small investment in libraries, such as [Your Library], ensures an equitable allocation of resources, strengthens the fabric of our community, and moves the needle towards [State/City]'s shared visions for residents' ability to realize their full potential within our community.

Please allocate funding for [Summary of proposal] and empower our residents with the resources they need to [Summary of impact].

Sincerely,
