Call for Nominations:
The Library Instruction Round Table (LIRT) requests nominations for the 2015 LIRT Librarian Recognition Award. The Librarian Recognition Award is given in recognition of a librarian's contribution to the development, advancement, and support of information literacy and instruction. The award is open to any librarian who participates in instruction/information literacy activities, in any type of library. Instruction does not have to be the main focus of their position. The award will be judged based on any of the following:

- Contributions to library literature on information literacy related to instruction, including but not limited to:
  - can consist of both formal and informal publications, presentations, posters, etc.
  - sharing and replication.
- Impactful participation within local, regional, national, and international library organizations that are devoted to the support and promotion of information literacy in libraries.

"I want to thank the LIRT Librarian Recognition Award for recognizing the work librarians do to make connections so we can continue to help students at all levels with their information literacy practices."
—Kenzie Johnson, 2014 LIRT Librarian Recognition Award Winner

Nomination Materials:
To nominate yourself or another librarian for the LIRT Librarian Recognition Award, please submit a nomination packet that includes a letter of nomination (in hard copy or PDF for the individual being nominated), a letter of support, and information about the nominee. If the person making the nomination is different than the nominee, please also supply the preceding for the nominator. Packets should also include a letter addressing the specific criteria (see bullet points above).
Other supporting materials that show the individual's contributions to instruction are welcome. Electronic submission of nomination materials is preferred. Please contact Michael to request exceptions. Further information regarding the award is available on the LIRT website.

Send all LIRT Librarian Recognition Award nomination materials by January 15, 2015 to:
