

LIRT News

June 1987

Volume 9, Number 4

An annotated bibliography prepared by the Continuing Education Committee, Library Instruction Round Table

Journal of Academic Librarianship 12(May 1986): 90-95.

Describes a research project conducted at Northwestern University designed to provide a model of online catalog instruction that could be modified and adopted by other academic libraries.

P Catholic Library World 58(July/August 1986): 35-39.

Provides an overview of what equipment, programs, and information is needed to begin providing online services to high school students and faculty. Encourages the integration of the online search with the instructional process.

College Teaching 33(Fall 1985): 159-62.

Describes a library orientation program as a component of the orientation/acclimation class for international students at North Texas State University. Uses a special team approach involving librarians and English Teachers.

Specialist: 1950-182-91. School Library Media Quarterly 14(Summer 1986):

Details the education philosophy and practices of each decade and demo

Bulletin (December 1986): 20-22.

Survey of nearly fifty libraries to ascertain the types of software being used in academic and school library BI programs. Describes applications of CAI software and suggests how BI programs can utilize(d) this instructional medium.

Greenfield, Louise,

Journal of Academic Librarianship 12(September 1986): 227-31.

Presents the goals, content and organization of a workshop designed to train library staff in cross-cultural communication. Addresses language difficulties, cross-cultural adjustment and instructional sessions for international students.

Students: The University of California-356-60.

on for International
RQ 25(Spring 1986):

Describes an orientation network program developed to help foreign students. Staff cultural awareness is also addressed.

Jones, Patri

To Do When the World Book is Missing: A
RQ 26(Fall

1986): 31-34.

Describes the development of a cooperative venture in which library instruction is given in a high school by public librarians.

College and Research

Libraries 47(September 1986): 470-74.

Discusses several cooperative programs designed to help students make the transitions from high school to college libraries.

College and Research Libraries News 47(May 1986): 321-22.

Describes a joint effort between school and academic librarians to teach library skills to college-bound high school students in twenty-six counties of Southwest Virginia.

