

Establishing a Library Foundation: Planning, Persistence, Progress

Each person, family, and business in our community faces a daunting challenge: the rapid pace of change. Compounding this challenge is the growth and array of information sources from which to philanthropic gift to a public entity. They will, however, contribute to a non-profit, tax-exempt private organization: a library foundation.

A library foundation is a separate legal entity formed for the purpose of enhancing and expanding library programs and services. Its primary function is to secure financial and in-kind

Organization

The size and organization of the foundation board will vary depending on the needs and resources in the community. The key is to attract, recruit, and involve dedicated individuals in the community who will raise funds and visibility on behalf of the foundation. Operating policies, practices, and committees will evolve as the foundation grows and matures.

Communication between the library board of trustees and the foundation board of directors is essential for success. There are numerous structures: some foundations include and involve all library trustees on the board, some include a designated liaison from the library trustees, and some favor total separation of the boards with other communications systems in place.

The staffing and support of library foundations also varies. In some cases, the library provides the staffing and office support; in other instances, the foundation totally supports its staff and office. And in some libraries, a mix of library resources and private funding is the preferred structure.

Advice is available from attorneys and accountants regarding laws governing foundation activities and fiscal management. Bar associations, accounting firms, educational institutions, and fund development organizations offer seminars and workshops on board recruitment and development, financial issues, etc. which provide valuable insight and information for both new and established foundations.

Programs and Priorities

Library foundations support the goals and priorities of the library and work closely with the administration in the planning and funding of projects that benefit users and potential users. Library foundations focus on capital projects, collections, programs, and services that are not funded through public dollars. For example, foundations can raise part or all of the resources for a new building, buy books to give away as part of a reading readiness program, and supplement collection and/or programming funds. Funds raised by the foundation are in addition to the library's tax-supported funding and do not replace public support.

Foundations - and foundation board members - extend the library's reach into the community, both in spreading the word and in bringing information and issues back to the library. Foundations also contribute to political campaigns in support of library levies or bond measures. And, Foundation board members are excellent advocates for library election measures.

Tell Your Story - Now!

"A man can wait for a long time with his mouth open before a duck flies in," is a Chinese proverb that impels us to action. Libraries have excellent stories to tell and numerous opportunities to let people know that their support is valued and needed. Libraries are more important than ever as they meet the challenges of today and tomorrow. The pace of change will continue to accelerate, and a foundation can help the library mobilize resources to provide vital library services in our communities today and in the future.
